Death of an Old Citizen. James B Connelly, an old and well known citizen, died in this city on Saturday evening last, in the 82d year of his age. Mr Connelly was a silversmith and a jeweler, and carried on business for many years. During the Indian war he was a member of Jackson's body guard and served with distinction. He was a quiet and respected citizen, and his death will be regretted by the old citizens in particular, of whom there were many warm personal friends,

Melancholy Intelligence. We regret to state that the condition Dr. J. E. Manlove, who has been very it for some time with flux, is considered hope less, his recovery being despaired of. Late vesterday evening he was gradually sinking, and possibly before this reaches our readers his disembodied spirit may have winged its flight to the eternal world. The Appeal says: "Our old and esteemed friend, Col. Wisdom, of the Jackson Whig and Tribunc, was, we are happy to learn, last week appointed by Chancellor Fen-tress Clerk and Master for the Chancery Court for Madison county. This is an appointment that everybody will indorse. The gallant, witty, genial Wisdom is cer-tainly entitled to all of good the world can give. As Clerk and Master of Madison he is the right man in the right place. A wellread lawyer and good business man, he will know how to answer, as he will cheerfully, the wants of his people. We heartily congratulate him."

Successful Enterprise.

There has been for some time in open tion at Clifton, in Wayne county, on the Tennessee river, a manufactory of the Clifton Cement. It is gratifying to note the fact that it has proven a complete success in every regard. The establishment is owned by enterprising citizens of this place and vicinity, and we understand that its capacities are to be increased with additional outlays of capital. The cement has given unusual satisfaction wherever used by builders and contractors. In fact we regard the testimony as to the merits of the Clifton Cement as being conclusive. It is given by gentlemen of enlarged practical experience, and could not well be stronger. It is pleasing to note the success of the many and varied manufacturing establishments being in operation in our

Negro Man Shot and Killed. Another bloody tragedy occurred be-tween the hours of twelve and one o'clock on Saturday night. The event happened near five miles from the city, on what is known as the Chicken Run Pike. It appears that a negro ball, that was largely at tended, was given at the premises of Archie Moss colored, who lives in that vicinity As it has become quite common of late for the negroes to go armed, many of them carried pistols and knives to the gathering Their dancing and hilarity was protracted to unreasonably late hours, and although, shall have reported, which will be before long, the returns for the entire county will be complete. The following are the disas we are informed, there was no drinking, the sable participants became quite bois-terous, and a general melee ensued. During the earlier part of the night, a negro named Ishem Noel had killed a dog beonging to Moss, whefeat the latter became indignant. Some other donkey in the crowd informed Moss that it was Noel who killed his dog. The disturbance at once commenced in vigorous and furious style. Moss, as we learn, threatened chastise ment to the party who had deprived him of his canine. Noel, being informed of this, excitedly drew his pistol, saying, "Yes, I killed Moss' dog, and d——d him, I'll kill him too." This was in a crowd, and several gathered hold of Noel, trying to restrain him. He told them to let him go or he would shoot. Among those who had hold of him was a negro man named Lewis Provine. He told Lewis to let him go. This the letter did not do hat go. This the latter did not do, but en-deavored to get his pistol from him. During the scuffle, and while Provine was in a stooping posture, Noel brought his pistol down and fired. The ball entered the top of the head and ranged downward, killing Provine instantly. On Sunday morning Coroner Brien was sent for and an inquest was held, which rendered a verdict in accordance with the facts. Noel was promptly arrested and brought to the city. Yes-terday evening he was arraigned before Justices Brien and Hinton, who required him to give $5,000 bond for his appearance 392 before the Criminal Court, in default of which he was committed to jail.

The fly-catching of Lee Moses in the center field was splendid, capturing 4 flies. Smith played first base well. Sullivan caught in his own usual way, taking everything in that came along. Rielly played short stop splendid, especially on the fourth inning, in which he muffed a fly, purposely forcing two men off bases and pulling them out. They did not pitch as effective as usual. Thebault of the Lone Stars is a magnificent catcher: so is Scott. Condon is a very catcher; so is Scott. Condon is a very swift pitcher. Johnson played well on Waterman led the score at the bat. Coffee and Tea Trade. The effect of the war in Europe, in prosrating trade, and withdrawing purchasers from the market is in no branch of busi ness more seriously felt than in groceries. The London Grocer refers to this release at length, and speaks as follows of coffee and The sudden and alarming collapse in this market is almost without a parallel in the records of the present commercial panic. The export of these articles has always been the foundation of an extensive and popular trade between this country and the conti-nent, and within the past few years it has been expanded in an astonishing degree. Moreover it has been kept exclusively in German and other foreign hands, who, being closely connected with the war-like measures now approved of across the channel, have in many cases been compelled to break off all commercial dealings and start at once for the defense of their ancient fatherland. The consequence of this unexpected interruption to business can be but too easily conjectured. The withdrawal of a large and influential body of buyers at a family 6.50; famey 7.00. Plantation Ceylon, which is a favorite description with shippers (whenever they are in the mar-ket), and is very plentiful at present, has therefore been most severely depreciated in value, as, besides the reduction that took place last week, there has since been another fall of 10s to 12s ? ewt; middling quality, for example, not being now worth more than about 60s. Public sales during the last three days have been quite sus pended, and the quantity sold (by which the drop above noted was established) has been such a mere trifle that the quotations we give in our usual place must be conidered as only approximate, and based on the foregoing remarks.

The American Grocer also discusses the subject from the same standpoint, and Already the effect of this depress the London market has been felt here in those coffees coming from the East. But, fortunately for us, our principal source of coffee supply—Rio—is not directly subjected to the difficulties presented above, and hence we have not, and will not have the fluctuations and depressions in our Rio coffee market experienced abroad in other kinds. Nevertheless, there is too much direct business connection between Rio and Europe for us to expect that this market will escape the influence.

The ter market cannot be so much fected by the war, except as the general ability of the people to buy is impaired. The English tea market has been extremely dull for some time, and is likely so continue while the London merchants and dealers are quarrelling over weights and tares. Our own market is quiet and but little influenced as yet.

Crops and Grain Markets in England. The Mark Lane Express, of July 25,

The bright weather of the previous week has been followed by a continued tropical neat. The meadows have once more lost their green, and those who deferred cutting their grass with the hope of a better gathering have had about half a load to the acre. stead of a quarter, as experienced by those who mowed early; but the produce is more like oat straw than sweet hay, and has been so denuded of its seeds by waiting that its quality must be very inferior, and nearly all hopes of a second crop have now died away. The root crops will be serious-ly lessened, and though the early potatoes we been of fine quality, they have yielded badly, while the late are likely to be worse. But the corn which has reached maturity will be gathered in the finest order, should the weather keep dry, and wheat, we have no doubt, will be a full average produce, if not more. All spring grain must be short, especially oats, beans and peas. In Southern Europe and France they are in full swing with the gatherings, and the lament For further particulars, apply at No. 71 in Hungary is want, not only of hands, but of machines to do so much work at once. If ever there was a season that exhibited in its ttue light the suicidal and outrageous character of war, this is the one-the smiling but scanty cornfields being a standing protest against the murderous art; and yet, strange to say, the very countries on the verge of this deadly strife do not show an excitement in the corn trade equal to what the last week has displayed in the British Isles. In peace we were the slowest country to move; and though happily not at war ourselves, we have so exaggerated the diffi-culties of procuring supplies that our Frans-Atlantic cousins will now find we have exceeded themselves in what we have nitherto called going ahead. Several places in the country reported a rise of 10s V quarter on wheat, in spite of the most avorable weather; but the average scarceexceeds half that amount, and prices nst be considered as entirely unsettled, both abroad and at home, till events more plainly indicate the future.
